Is your child struggling with their emotions or behavior at home or school?

Let our Intensive Family Stabilization Services help.

Sometimes families need extra support.

When kids struggle with negative feelings or how to behave, it affects the whole family. The experienced experts at St. Vincent Family Services work closely with you and treat children 3-18 who may be experiencing or displaying:

- Physical aggression
- Anger
- Acting out at home or in school
- Relating to other children
- Family ce
- Sexual and/or physical abuse
- Depression
- Bipolar disorder
- Anxiety
- Current or past trauma
- Grief/loss
- Low self-esteem

Together, we can keep kids healthy, happy, and at home.

Helping Families Build Bright Futures
Caregiving can be hard. But you’re not alone.

We have guided hundreds of families through even the toughest situations. You will receive personalized support from skilled counselors who often step in when:

• Other services don’t work
• Families feel overwhelmed
• Pre-school or school leaders cannot manage a child
• Caregivers are considering hospitalization or other out-of-home placement

We work hard to help your child and family succeed.

For three to six months, we work through 3-5 hours of home and school-based sessions every week. Caregivers are intimately involved along with the child. We also offer additional services or sessions based upon your needs, including accessing community resources.

We believe all kids and families:

Have a valued and respected voice in treatment decisions

Are unique and need support and encouragement to reach their full potential

Thrive when caregivers take an active part in the treatment process accessing community resources.

For immediate help: Email intake@svfc.org or call (614) 824-KIDS (5437).

The cost of services is based on the family’s ability to pay, income and number of dependents. In many cases, public funding and private insurance can help in covering program costs.